

Butterfly Essences

Personal transformational frequencies

These Solar Butterfly Essences represent the possibility of a new consciousness emerging. Their actions enabling an extension into profound aspects of Being to develop our potential.

Each essence is resonant with a particular species of Butterfly, hence their name. They are brightly coloured messengers for our Emotional Being. Just as flowers, gems, crystals, sea creatures and many more embody subtle energies, so do butterflies. All matter is simply light vibrating at different frequencies.

They can be very effective when put directly on chakra points on the skin, dropped in the bath or put in sprays, oils creams and lotion. They can be broadcast with crystals or utilised in many other ways. They can be helpful and are for external use only.

Butterfly Essences are composed of high frequency energy, held in an aqueous solution and preserved with alcohol. The alcohol stabilises the energy in the water, helping it to be 'contained' by the water.

Butterfly Essences

Group One

The Group One Butterfly Essences are light frequencies that can form and impact our psyche. This means that they are tools of light capable of bringing transformation and well-being to many aspects of our spiritual Being.

They are available at this time for our greater growth and experiencing. Many people feel that these essences 'take them home' in a most profound way, and they may help to bring about spiritual states of well-being.

They are a very fine and 'focused' tool for deep processes of consciousness and evolution.

Butterfly Essences

Group Three

Group Three Butterfly Essences are the densest of the three octaves of Solar Colour energy, and these represent the colours that impact on our Astral and Emotional bodies. They are the light frequencies that affect our creative energies and our feelings.

This is the original set of Butterfly Essences which have been available for several years now. They Impact particularly strongly on our relationships as they can affect our emotions, so they deal with our 'interactivity with others' in particular. This is in strong contrast with Group Two and One Essences, which are much more centred on personal development issues. So these mix especially well with the Sea Essences which are also relationship centred in their application. These essences can also be brilliant boosters for many different types of creative activity.
